Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

Q1. What is The Sustainable Communities Innovation Challenge (The Challenge)?

Fannie Mae launched The Challenge to generate innovative ideas that will help us address the affordable housing crisis in America and further support our broad mission to create housing opportunities that are safe, sustainable, and affordable, while managing risk to protect lenders, homeowners, and taxpayers.

Specifically, The Challenge is a $10 million commitment by Fannie Mae to generate affordable housing solutions that will help Fannie Mae advance sustainable communities—those providing residents opportunities for employment, health and wellness, and education. For more information, please visit www.fanniemae.com/thechallenge.

Q2. How does Fannie Mae define sustainable communities?

Sustainable communities are safe, stable, thriving, vibrant communities that are resilient to shocks and stresses, and that offer residents integrated access to quality affordable housing and quality economic, health, and educational opportunities. Fannie Mae also uses the terms “high-opportunity communities” or “high-opportunity markets” to describe sustainable communities.

Q3. When is The Challenge?

The submission window for The Challenge: Healthy Affordable Housing opens on September 26 and we are seeking proposals through November 1, 2018.

Three contract awardees for the first phase of The Challenge, which focused on housing and employment, were selected and announced on June 20, 2018. Timing for Phase Three will be announced in 2019.

Q5. Is Fannie Mae making grants or debt or equity investments through The Challenge?

No. Fannie Mae is not making grants or debt or equity investments through The Challenge. All Challenge awards will be deliverable-based contracts.

Q6. Why has Fannie Mae launched The Challenge?

Approximately one-third of U.S. households are considered to be cost-burdened, meaning they spend more than 30 percent of their incomes for housing. Challenges including rising rents and stagnant wages, price people out of certain markets and can force them to live farther away from their jobs.

Fannie Mae launched The Challenge to seek new ideas to help us increase access to affordable housing by focusing on the advancement of sustainable communities – those that provide residents with access to quality healthcare, education, and job opportunities.

Q7. Who can submit proposals for The Challenge?

Please refer to the Eligibility Section above.

Q8. How will projects be selected?

For each phase, The Challenge review committee will first screen all proposals for eligibility and then review eligible proposals for competitiveness against pre-established selection criteria. For ideas that advance, the review committee, with input from the Expert Advisory Panel, will conduct video interviews with applicants. Applicants that advance past the Virtual Interviews stage will be asked to submit a complete proposal for The Challenge. Finally, selected applicants will be invited to an in-person Pitch Day on March 26 – 27, 2019 in Washington, DC. Fannie Mae will make the final decision to select contract awardees based on Pitch Day.
For more information about the selection criteria, please see Selection Process & Criteria above.

Q9. Who is on the Expert Advisory Panel that will review ideas?

The Challenge: Healthy Affordable Housing panel is comprised of experts in affordable housing, health, and innovation, and represents the public, private, and nonprofit sectors. Their role is to provide impartial reviews of submitted ideas and proposals and guidance to The Challenge review committee. All final contract award decisions will be made by Fannie Mae.
