- Search has been enhanced with new filters, and a newly expanded Help Center features more resources, easily available inside the platform.
- We've redesigned user's ability to provide feedback on how the Fannie Mae Connect platform and reports are working for our customers, so we can continue to improve the user experience.

Your experience, simplified

In mid-November, improvements will deploy to streamline new user access for administrators and users. New user account provisioning will be simplified, and auto-generated emails inside the application will reduce administrator's time managing user access. Users will also benefit from new ease-of-access features.

For Users:

- Enjoy greater visibility into new, relevant data. View the entire Fannie Mae Connect report catalog, even reports that are not yet assigned to you.
- Request access to unassigned reports by clicking a new Request Access link. If access is granted, all reports in that category will be available to you.

For Administrators:

- Corporate Administrators will onboard users to Fannie Mae Connect more quickly, by assigning the user's role in Technology Manager.
  - User roles have been redefined in Technology Manager, mapped to report categories and reports in Fannie Mae Connect.
  - Report Administrators will no longer need to assign reports to users.
  - Simplified provisioning for new user accounts in Technology Manager will replace current 'Auto-Assign' feature in Fannie Mae Connect.
- An access request for a new report category from a user will trigger an automated email to Administrators, allowing you to approve the request.
- Your approval of a request will trigger an automated email to the user on the status of their request.
- We've provided an option for administrators to unsubscribe from receiving further access request emails from Fannie Mae Connect.
